

ASIAN TRAVELS (R)

Release your stress out and realize your strength in!!!

Overview:

Treks are undertaken by many travellers, but treks are attempted by only the bravest and the most adventurous of all. Kabbal Durga trek is your chance to undertake a walking expedition like never before. Kabbal Durga is a village, which has a temple and a fort. It lies about 80 km from Bengaluru, the state capital of Karnataka. The name of the site is a combination of the words Kabbalamma, who is the presiding deity of the temple and Durga.

Many devotees undertake the climb to pay homage to the goddess while others take the hike to see the old fort, which now is in ruins. The gradient of the slopes of this hillock is quite high. Climbs are attempted along only one of the four faces of the steep cliff. Kabbaldurga trekking can take anywhere between 40 minutes to one-and-a-half hour, depending on your hiking ability. There are some highly essential things to keep in mind before attempting this slightly tough, but exciting excursion. You should be perfectly fit, and you should not be suffering from any bone-joint problem. As the path is quite rocky, it is important that your legs are able to negotiate the terrain without much difficulty.

Owing to the same reason, wear comfortable sport shoes, and preferably those that provide good traction. Fear of height is another thing that you should not be a victim of, for it may bar you from enjoying the trip. During this Kabbal Durga trek, carrying a powerful torch is of utmost importance to see the trail in sufficient light. The expedition will be a bit gruelling, and you will feel exhausted; hence, carry enough water and energy-giving snacks. Remember to pack a raincoat as this area is prone to heavy rainfall.

When leaving for this trek to Kabbal Durga, remember to pack whatever medicines you are using. You will enjoy many fun activities during your trip, and hence pack light and carry clothes that allow free movement, but adrenaline-rushing Kabbaldurga trekking will give you huge amounts of thrill, and also some beautiful views.
